

Important Notice for LSAT Registrants at Canadian Test Centers

Candidates testing at test centers in Canada MUST bring a photograph to the test center on the day of the test. These photographs will be retained by LSAC.

Before you report to the testing location, you must:

- Attach a recent, clear photograph of yourself to the designated box on your LSAT admission ticket. (The photograph must have been taken within the last six months and must show only your face and shoulders. Laminated copies and photocopies of your photo are not acceptable.)
- Print (in block letters) your name, test date, LSAC account number, and test center code on the back of the photograph before you glue it to the admission ticket in case it should become detached from your admission ticket.
- Your photograph should not be larger than 5 x 5 cm or smaller than 3 x 3 cm. It should fit within the designated box on your LSAT admission ticket.
- Glue or tape your photo to the ticket—do not use staples.

You MUST have a recent photograph attached to your LSAT Admission Ticket or you will not be admitted to the test. The photograph must be clear enough so that there is no doubt about your identity. Your face in the photo must show you as you look on the day of the test.

You must also take with you to the testing center one current, valid (not expired) government-issued ID containing a recent and recognizable photo and signature. Government-issued employment IDs and passport cards are not permitted. Your first and last name on your ID must match exactly the name on your LSAT admission ticket. No one will be admitted into the testing room without acceptable identification.

If you do not have an admission ticket, you must still take a recent photograph and the required identification to the test center.
